KEEP TRACK OF
OLD LINE FIGHTERS

New York, Nov. 5.—John (Jack) Grace, the chronic globe trotter, has done the heel and toe in and out of captivity and his wanderings have kept him well posted regarding the whereabouts of most of the old-timers who were earning their three squares per when Jack won his cakes by tilt-pushing.

Grace recently unbuttoned his lower maxillary to the extent of digging up and locating a host of the knuckle-duster of other days for an inquisitive scribe, and it is altogether probable that the veteran boxing fans of the country will be glad to hear of the whereabouts of many of the old boys.

"George Gardner is now in Chicago dispensing smokes," said Grace. "Oscar Gardner is back in Minneapolis holding down a political job; Billy Smith is in Auckland, New Zealand, posing as a tailor; Australian Jimmy Ryan is in the saloon business in Baltimore; mysterious Billy Smith and Tommy Ryan are in England, Ore., and Jimmy Gardner has a thirst parlor in Lowell, Mass.

Sport Snap Shots

A real world series. One that will include championship teams of a dozen nations. Series games to be staged all over the world.

Why? Does that strike you, fans? Well, such a series after the war is over is more than a possibility. It's a probability.

Why? In the first place, baseball has been adopted by every one of the allied armies in the field. It has become immensely popular with the soldiers of all the fighting forces. Many of these millions of men are going to be great baseball fans after the conflict is ended. Hundreds will be expert ball players as good as and better than the major league stars of bygone days.

When the soldiers return to civilian life in their own countries they will not go to drop the game. What is a reasonable to suppose that baseball will be adopted by the French, English, Belgians, Italians and other countries on a big scale. National leagues will spring up.

Then who would be more natural in the course of events than that a world series should be arranged to be the best teams in these nations chance to match their skill—to settle the world title of the diamond.

With little imagination the thirty-third degree fan can see: Burden—will say—winning the French championship. Belgium capturing the Belgian title.

Rome winning the flag in Italy's league. Liverpool, winning the English pennant by noosing out London in an extra-inning battle.

Melbourne copping the Australian flag.

One can picture a team of wiry Japs in Tokyo boasting of the title in their land.

Brunn or Prague, cities in the land where the Czechoslovaks have set up the banner of freedom, might be in the list.

Over here on our side of the ocean the American and National leagues would no longer meet for an alleged world title. They would compete for the United States championship. Canada would have its championship team, backed by the thousands of soldiers returned from France. Even Mexico and the two of the South American countries might have real leagues.

So far, so good.

It isn't difficult to conceive the interest that would be aroused toward the close of the series when the U. S. title holders, having defeated the Mexican and South American champs are booked to play the Toronto club for the All-American continental title. Canada in the meantime has earned the right to play U. S. by kicking the Philippines and Alaskan teams.

And the elimination series in Europe has simmered down to maybe Liverpool, Bordeaux, Antwerp and Rome. The American champs are to meet the winner.

As to the personnel of the clubs. The names of former major league stars who sought the shelter of the shipyards when asked to work or fight, would be missing.

The players best of them would have war records. The younger fellows who gradually would grow into the classy teams will be the younger relatives or descendants of the men who helped make the world safe for democracy.

As to where the final games in the opening series would be played? Well, doesn't matter where.

The friendly rivalry would make the games the most spectacular in the game's history. The cables, no longer weighted down with the serious news of war, would be able to flash the results to all parts of the world.

Truly, baseball under these conditions, would be wonderful.

And, last of all, conducted on such a mammoth scale the game necessarily would be handled by men of big caliber, men chosen because of their efficiency, their popularity with the people, and their record for straightforward service to the public to whom they would answer.

Evil Always There.

There is evil in every human heart, which may remain latent, perhaps, through the whole of life; but circumstances may arouse it to activity.

DAILY PRAYER

Silently we name in Thy holy Presence, O God, the dear ones serving our King and Thee, for whom we cover the best gifts. And with them, we link all our Allied soldiers and sailors and war workers everywhere. Keep them all steadfast in their trust and vision and highest duty, whatever else befall. Grant to them and us, soon, the felicity of knowing that peace and redemption from ruthlessness and selfishness is power. Amen.

SOMEONE BLUNDERED.

Nearly four weeks ago the schools, the churches, the amusement places, the dance halls were closed owing to the influenza. The health officer informed all to be sure and avoid crowds, to keep warm, not to take cold, and other precautions. On Thursday, last, the Gazette announced the "lid" would be off Monday, that schools could resume their studies, and unless there was some sudden increase in the disease, the school would go along as usual.

Buildings closed for three weeks needed airing, and a thorough heating, one of the precautions advocated by the health officials, yet Monday morning saw the high school building, where some five hundred old pupils assemble each day for instruction, colder than the proverbial barn, and the school lost another half day from their studies. Why? Who was the blunderer? Who is responsible? That is the question the citizens and parents of the scholars want to know.

Years ago during the Crimean war there was a famous charge of a regiment of English horses known as the "Charge of the Light Brigade." Every school boy in the generation learned to speak it at one time or another. To be able to recite how this gallant band went to certain destruction simply because "someone had blundered." Now this question of heat and sanitation of our school buildings are important items in the community. One's not to be lightly dismissed and the blame for the flu and the school closure belongs. If it is the school board, let them shoulder the burden. If anyone else, let them be made responsible, but it was absurdity, with a capital "A" to call a school to attention in a room that was a menace to all the students' health after the precautions we have taken these past few weeks. It is to be hoped it will not be repeated.

SPECULATION.

The stock market within the past three months has seen a very considerable advance. The great improved military position has helped it. When the German front in France began to crumble, and Germany's allies to weaken, then the speculators began to take notice. They looked around over the stock market, and saw sound securities selling for prices below their value. They began to pick up bargains and the result of this buying movement has been the advance referred to.

Now this moderate rise has had some uses. It tends to make business men more cheerful and helps them look to the future with confidence. It probably helped put over the Liberty loan. Some men were able to get rid of stocks without a loss and put the money into government bonds.

But it will not be in accordance with government policy for any big advance movement to be promoted now. Such a movement always depends largely on borrowed capital. If this capital is tied up in the hands of speculators who are buying for a rise, it will not be available to help put over the next Liberty loan.

All financial operations for the next six months will be planned with respect to the way they will affect the bond issue due for next March or April. People ought not to be allowed to have funds for speculation. If they have idle money waiting investment, let them put it out on short term securities that can be exchanged for the next Liberty bonds.

It is likely that all conservative financiers share this feeling. People who try to speculate now on the assumption that a large and general rise is going to be promoted, are very likely to run up against the sound business sense of the country, and thus find themselves gulled once more.

Anxious inquirer writes asking what will become after the war of the munition workers who now get $10.00 a day? Dunno, but feel sure the soldiers in the trenches who protect them for $1.00 a day, won't give them any jobs no matter how cheap they are willing to work.

Everyone thinks his own industry is essential, and even the candy-makers feel the morale of the nation will be hopelessly shattered unless the dear little get their boxes of chocolate as usual all done up with red ribbon and color printing.

While the people in the towns are eagerly awaiting the election returns from the back districts, the same calmly rest on the mantelpiece until the ballot clerks' wives go up to town on their next shopping trip.

Someone asks what has become of our proper lady friend who always used to say "limb" for "leg." Well, last heard from her was ordering the dressmaker to cut her skirts three inches shorter.

They are now during insane people by taking out their teeth and removing their tonsils, but so far no one has cured anyone of brain fever by amputating their big toe.

Some of the business men celebrate Fire Prevention day annually by cleaning up their stores and stuffing the inflammable material out of sight in the basement.

The Huns agree to our peace terms. Also formally they agreed to the neutrality of Belgium. Also to peace in Russia without annexations or indemnities.

Of course the farmers still claim farming doesn't pay, but it is noticed that the automobile dealers spend a lot of time drumming their trade.

The poultry dealers claim there is no money raising hens, which is just the way other folks talk when they want to discourage competition.

It is felt by the Huns that if they don't get peace soon, they will be terribly handicapped in getting ready to start another war.

So far as observed the fear of influenza does not lead the boys to hold the girls any the less tightly at the dances.

Some people think they are in trouble when a fire "breaks out" or when the baby cries at night. Such folks should read the following list of things that happened to a Missouri man as told by the village bard.

And he lost his cow in a poker game; And a cyclone came on an autumn day; And blew the house where he lived away; Then an earthquake came, and when that was done, And swallowed the ground that the house stood on; Then a tax collector he came around And charged him up with a hole in the ground.

Just to show what a war can bring about, we were over at the Greenpoint theatre the other evening and heard an Italian chief singing a song in the Greek language. If this isn't grabbing the entente cordiale by the tail and beating it into submission, we will take another guess.

There are other things which work toward happiness just as much as the light of chumming around with an undertaker out of business hours.

Atkinson, Kan., has isolated itself from the flu epidemic, according to the "Globe." "The big bridge across the river has been closed and it is well known that germs can't swim."

The captain called his company to attention. He wanted to find out about sanitary conditions. He commanded: "You men who have cooties step forward, Company, Halt."

"How long will the steak be, waiter?" asked the cafe cat, when, "About six inches," replied the waiter.

"We like to read this old joke over," says the "Transcript." It recalls such pleasant memories. The answer today would be about 24 inches.

"We had better get our increased prices while the getting is good," said the barbers. "This war isn't going to last forever."

A young lady writes in to find out the best way to become a star. Our expert opinion is that the best way to become a star is to have the play reviewers either praise you to the skies or knock you unmercifully. Either will accomplish the desired result. The only tragedy in theatrical life is to be ignored.

WHOS WHO in the Day's News

VISCOUNT GREY.
Viscount Grey of Falloden stating a definite form for a League of Nations has made his first public utterance since his retirement as foreign secretary in 1916. Lord Grey made a strong plea in support of union of purposes and of the allies and of President Wilson's policies. His speech has been regarded as a strong presentation of the case for post-bellum reconstruction. The former foreign secretary is now at his country seat at Winchester and at Balliol College, Oxford, and was under secretary for foreign affairs from 1892 to 1896. He was a member of parliament continuously from 1896 until his retirement two years ago. He was made foreign secretary in 1905 and held his portfolio for eleven years.

BYRON PATRICK HARRISON.
Byron Patrick Harrison of Mississippi is not only interesting because he whipped Vardaman for his senatorial defeat, but because he will be one of the youngest of the senators.

He was born on August 29, 1881, and so is just thirty-seven. The young statesman of Harrison of Harrison—his native county in Mississippi.

PEACE
"Oh we were weary," say the dead. "We saw the feet of vandals tread Upon our sacred souls, and heard The shrieks by which our souls were stirred. As those we loved were trampled down. We gazed on many a ruined town. And knew our homes stood in the path. Of Prussian lust and Prussian wrath. And yet we made no cry for peace. Nor prayed to have the cannons cease."

"Hunger had left us weak and faint, And yet we uttered no complaint. Our eyes had looked on filthy scenes; All that a Prussian warfare means. We'd winces and we understood. How low this demon, if he could, Would sink to win his foul desire. We'd seen our temples set on fire. And yet through all our anguished His name we never heard."

There rose no pleas for compromise. "We are your dead! We gave our youth To build a lasting peace on truth. We saw our little homes laid low. Our mothers bear a Prussian blow. Our children maimed by gray-clad hosts. And yet unmoved we kept our posts And gave our lives that time should bring Destruction to so base a thing. They dangled peace before our eyes And we refused to compromise."

"Oh we were weary, sick and sore. Death's mark had signalled every door. And desolation threatened then. Yet we were true to God and men. Behold us now, as we arise Who might have lived by compromise. If strong for battle they remain, We shall have given our lives in vain. If peace with them you make, be sure, It is the peace which shall endure."

Seems Queer.
"Seek and ye shall find" is a great truth (says the Philosopher of Polly) but it can be overdone. For instance the man who is always hunting for a job is the man who never seems to find one.

Marinette.—C. A. Budding, inspector of state penal institutions, has been informed that his son, Alva Budding, is a German prisoner. No letter had been received from him for some time and letters written to him were returned. A brother, Teddy Budding, was recently killed with the marines in France. A shell hit the dugout where he was, crushing his chest and shattering his shoulder. He was the youngest marine in the service.

Orange Fund.
Madison.—An "orange" fund with which to provide one orange daily to all S. A. T. C. men in the university infirmary, has been started by women students at the University of Wisconsin with approval of Dean F. Louis Nardir, and Frederick Wolf, secretary of the army Y. M. C. A. Miss Gertrude F. King, Junior, is chairman of the "orange" fund.

GEN. GROENER GETS LUDENDORFF'S JOB

Lieut. Gen. Groener.

Lieut. Gen. Groener, Prussian minister of war, has taken the seat at German headquarters made vacant by General Ludendorff's resignation according to a report from Berlin via Copenhagen. General Groener became notorious for his savage suppression of the great German munition strike early in 1916, and was recently bitterly attacked in the reichstag for cruelty and oppression in collecting food and raw materials in the Ukraine.

PLEASURE SEEKERS HAVE THEIR NIGHT

Theaters and Dance Halls Opened to the Public Last Evening—Only Ninety Cases of "Flu" in Jamesville.

Jamesville was itself again last evening. Theaters and dance halls were taxed to capacity and the town streets were thronged with people until late in the evening. It was a great relaxation for the people after being pleasure-idle for twenty-five days.

As early as seven o'clock Monday evening the downtown streets took on the appearance of a regular promenade. People thronged the streets and the crowds in front of the theaters were the largest ever seen in Jamesville. Dance halls were filled to capacity and all amusement owners report the largest business they have experienced in several years.

People forgot the "flu" for the time being but were reminded of it when entering the dance halls and theaters the eyes met large signs cautioning them to be careful.

There are now only ninety cases of Spanish influenza in Jamesville, and the majority of the cases are very mild. Along with this, Dr. Buckmaster reports that the city is absolutely free of any contagious disease. Sixteen cases were reported to the health officer for Sunday and Monday.

Dr. Buckmaster again requests the pleasure-seekers to be particularly sensible to guard against the spread of the disease. It is expected that the dance halls and theaters will do a capacity business for the next few days and will be in mind Dr. Buckmaster wants the people to be very careful.

LUGGAGE-CARRYING YOKE
Shoulder Strap Which Takes the Weight of the Hand Bag.

In these times of shortage of men power traveling people who formerly resorted to the expediency of turning their hand baggage over to the railroad porters are now compelled to negotiate their burdens themselves.

For their convenience a baggage carrier has been devised and patented which takes the burden of the bag from the hand and puts it on the shoulder. In addition to this it gives the bearer the freedom of the hands for the purpose when buying his ticket and displaying it at the gate and at other times when the use of the hands is desired. The device consists of a sort of a yoke which fits over the shoulder, and here it is much easier to carry than in the hand.

LAWRENCE, KAN., BECOMES A CIGARETTELESS TOWN

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS]
Lawrence, Kan., Nov. 5.—Lawrence will be a "cigaretteless" town hereafter under the rulings of Mayor George Kreeck and Major Bruno T. Scher, commandant of the S. A. T. C. at the University of Kansas. The canton at the army school began selling cigarettes, in accordance with the idea that they are necessary to a soldier's mental and physical health. Local cigar dealers also laid in a supply.

Came then the strict orders of the Mayor and the commandant, and the canton disposed of its stock, while the local dealers were told to get rid of their supply. Police were told to enforce State and city laws on selling tobacco to minors, and as a majority of students are under age they will have to forego the pleasure.

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Rarely has a finer sample of the art of make-up been disclosed than is seen in the work of Albert Hart in Carlyle Blackwell's and Evelyn Greeley's forthcoming production of "Allies."

Mr. Hart was cast for the role of an allegorical character, "The Huge, Black, One-Eyed Man." Although this character is seen in only some fifty feet of film he was compelled to create a make-up that took over two hours to produce and which involved less than ten minutes of time to film. Never in the history of either spoken drama or that of the screen has there been a make-up that in any way resembled it. Mr. Hart was compelled to "stand-by" all day, and a hot day it was, with the thermometer hovering around the hundred mark.

Though Mr. Hart was as thirsty as the proverbial dog on a Kansas prairie on the Fourth of July, he could not quench his thirst as the make-up would not permit him to.

Mr. Hart has created some wonderful make-ups, as disclosed by his work in "The Project" by his work as "Big Foot Ben" in "The Man Hunt," Marlan in "The Quickening Flame," Ryan in "The Driving Power," Sol Peter in "The Page Mystery," and Boss McDaniels in "A Woman of Redemption."

Before appearing in cinema productions Mr. Hart was for many years identified with the many Broadway productions. He began his stage career with Richard Mansfield when that famous star first started on his way to recognition as the greatest actor on the American stage.

Among those who are battling with the Spanish influenza is Bonnie Zellman, the energetic young press agent for Douglas Fairbanks. Bonnie is in a Chicago hospital recovering and awaiting Fairbanks' return from his eastern trip.

Tom Meighan, who is to play the lead for Norma Tallmadge's next picture, contracted the flu on his way from New York to the coast, but he is all right now and will start work in a few days.

Lottie Pickford is critically ill in Los Angeles, threatened with pneumonia.

How Chinese Preserve Eggs.
The Chinese have a method of preserving eggs in somewhat the same manner as milk is preserved in cheese. "Cheesified" eggs are called pidan, which is made by placing ducks' eggs in a solution of black tea, salt, lime and wood ashes for nearly six months. The eggs are then drained, coated with rice hulls and placed upon the market.

Mark of the Beast.
It is most true that a natural and secret hatred and aversion toward society, in any man, hath somewhat of the savage beast.—Bacon.

Proofs of Wisdom.
The first characteristic of a good and wise man at his work is to know that he knows very little; to perceive that there are many above him wiser than he; and to be always asking questions, wanting to learn, not to teach.—Ruskin.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am keeping company with a man who said something which I consider very rude. Sunday he went to dinner at a married friend's house and met a young girl there. The next day I took a walk with him and he told me how well he liked this girl. He said she was very pretty and just the kind who would like to take long walks with us. He said that next spring if he can't find another man to go along he will have to settle with us. This hurt my feelings very much. What do you think of a man who would do this to a girl who loves him? He has asked a girl friend about me several times and she says he appears to be very much interested in me.

Would it be all right to invite the girl friend and her boy friend over to my house some evening and have my former boy friend? Or would he rather for my girl friend to invite him to her house some night and have me there?

Let the boy find a way to see you again. If he is interested enough to come to see you, he will ask for your permission. Either way that you suggest would be running after him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am engaged to a soldier who used to write to me every day when he was in camp. I received word that he had been transferred and I heard a more from him. I am very much worried because it has been four weeks since I got my last letter. What shall I do? Do you think anything serious has happened to him?

Nothing serious has happened to the soldier or you would have read of it in the casualty list. In many cases letters are delayed for several weeks following sailing. You really have no cause to worry.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two young ladies, thirteen and fourteen years of age. We are very much in love with two young men, each eighteen years of age, and living in nearby city. They declare their love for us and implore us to come and marry them.

We are undecided as to what to do, and we are afraid to ask our mother. The boys are coming from their homes to see us about it this week.

PEP AND SPUNK.
Your marriage would not be legal. All four of you are minors. Your love, at best, is only a puppy love. You are not old enough to know your own minds.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl who is anxious to become acquainted with some young people. Of course there are people with whom I could make friends, but they are not of my kind. I am particular about my friends. They must be ladies and gentlemen.

I love to dance, but have no one with whom I can go. Of course I would not mind going alone.

Can you help me?

It is wise to be particular about one's friends, but foolish to be snobbish. Stick to your ideals, but look for the qualities of lady and gentleman in the young people you are fortunate enough to meet.

Getting acquainted is a long, slow process. Go to church and church socials and be friendly to your neighbors. If your neighbors like you they will help you to find people.

HIGH CALORIE DISHES.

Oat, Bran, Raisin, Cereal (from above menu)—One cup rolled oats, half cup bran, half cup raisins, baked in double boiler or cooked in fireless cooker. Needs no sugar as raisins supply sweet.

Rice, Choose En Casserole (from above menu)—One cup of rice cooked tender, to which add two of three small onions, cup tomato or one, three medium sized tomatoes, one cup cheese, salt, cayenne pepper, a tablespoon of dripping or vegetable fat. Bake and serve in baking dish.

Baked Oatmeal. Nuts.—Two cups cooked oatmeal, one cup crushed peanuts, one-half pint milk, one teaspoon vinegar, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, two and one-half cups applesauce. Mix together and bake in a greased pan fifteen minutes. This is enough for five people.

Boston Roast.—One pound can of kidney beans, or equivalent quantity of cooked beans, one-half pound of cottage cheese, bread crumbs, salt. Mash the beans or put them through a meat grinder. Add the cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven, basting occasionally with butter or other fat, and water. Serve with tomato sauce. This dish is flavored with chopped onions, other fat and a very little water.

African Stew.—One and one-half cups kidney beans, one-half cup macaroni, one cup tomato sauce, one onion, four tablespoons drippings, seasoning to taste. Wash and soak beans overnight. Cook until tender. Brown sliced onions in frying pan with drippings, add to stew. Add the macaroni and the macaroni broken into bits. Cook until macaroni is well done.

FROZEN DAINTIES.

Raisin Cranberry Frappe.—Simmer three-quarters cup ground raisins that have been soaked in one cup water for two hours) until reduced to pulp. Cook three cups water and one-quarter cup sugar. Soften one tablespoon gelatin in one-half cup cold water and dissolve by standing in hot water. Add raisin pulp, add one and one-half cups sugar, juice one lemon and beat well together. Turn into freezer, pack in ice and salt, and let stand for two hours. Delicous in sherbet glasses with yeast turkey.

Pineapple Sherbet.—Boil two cups of water with one of sugar; dissolve a tablespoon of gelatin in cup water and stir in hot syrup; beat till cold; then add four well-beaten egg whites and the contents of a can of grated pineapple, with the juice of a lemon; freeze and serve in ice cream cones.

Coffee Ice Cream.—Put two-thirds of a cupful of coarsely ground coffee in a piece of cheesecloth, then in a pint of milk, and a pint of cream in a double boiler. Cover and cook ten minutes. Take out the bag and squeeze it dry, add one and one-quarter cups of granulated sugar to the hot cream and milk. When perfectly smooth add another pint of cream and freeze.

Orange Frappe.—One quart water, one pint sugar, one pint orange juice, juice of two lemons. Make syrup, only into water, before. Add the fruit juice, cool, strain and freeze. For the freezing use equal parts of rock salt and finely crushed ice.

Mock Custard.—One quart milk, scalded, one-half cup sugar, one teaspoon butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, pinch of salt, four eggs, two tablespoons cornstarch.

Mix the cornstarch to a smooth paste with a little cold milk, add the scalded milk slowly, and cook over a low fire until thick. Mix the other ingredients and combine with first mixture. Cook only long enough to thicken the eggs—no more than two or three minutes.

Creamy Ice Cream.—Put one cupful of confectioner's sugar, two tablespoons of boiling coffee and a teaspoonful of vanilla into a bowl; stir until the sugar is soft enough to spread. This being so, easily made and quickly dried, giving a clear, sparkling appearance. To give it still more brilliancy, sprinkle over before it dries, granulated or crystal sugar.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Reilly will answer in this column all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal reply is desired, enclose a three cent stamp.)

A call should never be too long. It is much better to have one's hostess wishing for a longer visit than to have her sigh that you should go.

MAINTENANCE. If your soldier friend is a friend of long standing and has asked for your photograph, it will be all right for you to send him one, but it would not do to send him a picture of you in a military uniform, even your mother, should lay aside deep mourning for the ceremony. It is not considered appropriate to wear black at a wedding.

Something was just going to happen all at once, just like that, quicker than a wink, in the last story, when I had to leave off. You remember Uncle Lucky and Little Billy Bunny were making a call on the old dear, Billy. Well, this is what happened. A loud knocking came at the door, and then Mr. Buck looked at Mr. Lucky. Left hand foot, and then they both looked at Billy Bunny, but none of them got up to lift the big wooden latch. I am sure I don't know just why they didn't. But there was something about that knocking that made them all shiver and shake, and it wasn't from cold, for the fire was burning brightly in the big hearth, and the room was full of smoke from Uncle Lucky's thirteen-cent carrot cigar and Mr. Buck's corn-cob pipe.

And then the knocking came again, only into the room before. And after that there wasn't a sound, except the ticking of Uncle Lucky's gold watch and chain.

"Let me in!" cried a deep, growly voice, all of a sudden, and Mr. Buck dropped the pipe out of his mouth and Uncle Lucky put the wrong end of the cigar back in his mouth, and Billy Bunny swallowed a little cake without biting it.

"Let me in!" said Mr. Buck, and he picked up his old corn-cob pipe and rubbed his hoof over the coals on the floor so that they wouldn't catch the boards on fire and burn up his little log cabin.

"Never mind who I am," said the deep, cross voice.

"Well, then stay outside," said Uncle Lucky. "If you're ashamed to introduce yourself we don't want to meet you."

Now, wasn't that a bright and brave remark for the old gentleman rabbit to make? Well, I just guess it.

And then the door began to shake and rattle, and pretty soon two saucers fell off the shelf and broke all to smithereens.

"Tarnation," said old Mr. Buck, great-great-grandmother, who came over the ark. Now, I am mad!" and he picked up a big club and walked over to the door, and then he lifted the latch and lifted his club, and then—

"I just came to make a New Year's call," and there stood the friendly Brown Bear, with a seal-skin cap on his head and a silver fox-trimmed parka on his back. "My, but you fellows are scary," and he laughed so hard that he blew the tobacco out of Mr. Buck's corn-cob pipe, and some of it got into the eyes of grandpa's deer's eyes and made him cough.

And then the friendly Brown Bear

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain ordinary liquid arvon. Apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

FOR GRANDMOTHERS ONLY.

Man is the unwilling host of more than three hundred kinds of animal parasites. Yes, indeed, doctors do believe in worms, indeed, doctors do believe in worms.

Dr. Oscar M. Schlöss carefully studied 310 children from 2 to 12 years of age, and found that 12 of 30 children who had unexplained nervous and stomach or bowel symptoms harbored worms. Eighty of 280 children consecutively examined harbored worms. Twenty-three of the children had pin worms, and five of them had tapeworms. Among the eighty children who were found to harbor one of another kind of worms, only thirty-six had any symptoms or disturbance of health—so that even when it is scientifically proved that a child harbors parasites in the intestine that is no reason for attributing the child's illness to the presence of the worms.

I dislike to reiterate this, grandma, but you know a fellow must defend himself when he has the chance.

Children or adults may harbor tapeworms without having any disturbance of health whatever. The combination of enormous appetite with an undernourished state of the body in young persons, though popularly suggested of tapeworms, is by no means evidence of parasites.

The only way the presence of tapeworm can be determined is by finding segments of the worms of their eggs (by microscope) in the bowel discharges. Indeed, it is usually an error and always a crime to treat a child for alleged "worms" without having first determined their presence by finding the worms themselves or their eggs in the discharges from the bowel.

sat down and ate a sweet cake, and after that he told a funny story about a bear that was a brever and made beer out of bunny hops. But what happened after that you must wait to hear in the next story, for there is no more room in this page for another word.

Adrift on Green Bay.
Marquette.—After being adrift on Green Bay during a gale for about thirty hours, Edward Charles and three boys were rescued by Captain Mickelson. They were found near Sturgeon Bay with the boat in danger of being washed on the rocks at Shawwood point. Billy Bunny, the engine of the motor boat failed to work. Relatives notified the Sturgeon Bay life-saving station. The party suffered from cold and hunger.

Receives Promotion.
Menasha.—Edward C. Mackle, former Menasha man, has been promoted to the rank of colonel in France.

Round worms, resembling earth worms though paler and usually not over three or four inches long, generally cause no symptoms at all. Sometimes they cause irregular abdominal discomfort or pains and the presence of an excess of mucus secretion (slimy material) in the bowel discharges. But bear in mind, grandma, if you love anybody's children, that these symptoms never warrant giving the children with alleged "worm medicine."

If it is known that a child harbors worms and treatment is desired, it is not only cruel but generally futile to feed the child alleged "worm medicine" in the usual Salway fashion. The intestine must first be emptied by a brisk cathartic. The child must fast for twelve to twenty hours. Then the worm medicine must be given in one or two doses. And finally a brisk cathartic must be administered to sweep out the worms while they are under the influence of the medicine. Worm medicine is worm poison, but sometimes it poisons the host as well, and no intelligent grandmother cares to assume a responsibility like that, even if Salway Gamp considers it the proper thing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
The Haunted House.
We have just purchased a house and were about to move in when we learned that the owner had just recovered from a severe attack of influenza. What precautions can we take to make the house and the bedroom the patient occupied safe for other occupants? (Mrs. M. C.)

Answer—Wash the floors and wood-work with soap and warm water, air out the room for a day and move in. If walls are visibly soiled, repaint or repaper—such precautions are simple, whether the last occupant has measles, diphtheria, scarlet fever, mumps, influenza, tuberculosis, influenza or pneumonia, or any other of the chemical infection in required.

SIDE TALKS

RUTH CAMERON

I have a friend who used to be cured with the habit of worry, especially in such lines as the following. She would wonder if she had looked the front door properly, and then go back and shake it.

Or she would mail an important letter, and then begin to wonder if she had sealed it properly.

You notice I say "used to." I am very glad I can say that, for it means that she is no longer a miserable happiness-deceiving habit.

I visited her recently, and when we left the house together, I saw her give a glance back and then turn and walk away. We had some-thing to do, and she was about to go, and so I ventured to speak of it now.

The Worrying Habit Was Shutting Out The Sun.

"Yet," she said, "that is just what I was thinking of. But I don't do those things any more, at least, not often."

"Why not?"

"Well," she said, "I made up my mind I couldn't. I found it was getting worse and worse. I was just like a little cat that gets bigger and bigger until it shuts out the sun all the time. I found that habit was coming to take up a bigger and bigger part of my mind, and I was getting more and more, and you know I have had a terrible example in my life of what it can do if it is allowed to grow."

Edgar stopped singing as he heard Edith's step. But he did not have time to change the expression on his face. She saw on it the same cheerfulness as when he had first received the support of the Ferris's money.

"Edgar, something has happened with you! You seem to have—Edgar, have you borrowed money from any one?"

The young man looked up, startled and obviously guilty.

"Why, what makes you think such a thing?" he parried.

"Because—never mind why, Edgar! Tell me, have you borrowed money from any one?" she insisted.

He tried to evade her eager, distressed scrutiny. Then he faced her suddenly, his suave manner returning, and said:

"Well, Edith, yes—I have secured the necessary money!"

"Edgar! Why didn't you tell us?"

"Well, Edith, I didn't want to raise your hopes again until I had some thing definite to show in the way of progress."

"Whose money is it?" she asked breathlessly.

"I am afraid you will have to excuse me from telling you," he said. "It's confidential."

"But why?" "Why?" Edith persisted, feeling a premonition of the truth.

Edgar's face clouded.

"You press me so, Edith! I really am entitled to some privacy in my own matters," he said, glancing away.

Edith took his hand and looked

Mrs. Farquhar.
"And so we part company?"
"I think it better, Mrs. Arnaud."
Sylvia looked up from her book. It was "East Lynne," and the condition of the cover suggested assiduous reading.
"I dare say you are right," she said lazily. "All the same, I don't quite understand you, Miss Scatch. You saved me in rather an awkward dilemma the other night. And now you want to leave me."
Gabrielle snuffed.
"If I was of any assistance to you, it was for reasons that had nothing to do with you personally."
"Sylvia blushed irritably. "What do you mean?" she asked.
"Madame Arnaud, you are pretending. You want to pretend that the lives that you have linked to yours have really nothing to do with you—that you are not responsible, that you are just a beautiful, innocent woman strolling among your dreams on a mountain top far above the turmoil of ordinary mankind. And you want me to pretend with you. But I really can't. As you said—I know too much. I'm a discomfiter."
"The liberty curtains dividing the open door from the courtyard were pushed aside and Sylvia's English maid made her discreet appearance.
"If you please, madame, a lady wishes to see you—Mrs. Farquhar."

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Time's an enemy you can't win, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home. Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add a pint of granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat, bronchitis, croup, pneumonia and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. PETEY DINK—AND PETEY CAN SIGHT INSTANCES TO PROVE IT.

from England."

There followed a brief, poignant silence. Sylvia Arnaud's hand tightened convulsively on the bonbonniere, and she looked at Gabrielle with the helpless appeal of a child who suddenly realizes that it has lost itself in a crowd of strangers.

"Tell Mrs. Farquhar that I—I am—"

But Mrs. Farquhar was already in the room. She stood for a moment on the threshold, smiling at them both, with the delighted consciousness of having successfully performed the part of an agreeable surprise packet. Her appearance undoubtedly heightened the desired effect. She wore a white dress and a white toque. Moreover, she was profusely powdered, and looked, if possible, younger and more daintily self-assured than ever. For a minute, during which she hesitated, her bright eyes rested earnestly on Gabrielle Smith, who, bowing formally, went out into the courtyard with a grim amusement written on her small, sunburnt face. Whereupon Mrs. Farquhar advanced and kissed Sylvia on both cheeks.

"Who is it? My God, Gabrielle!"

"My dear Sylvia—my dear little Sylvia—now I am sure I am the last person on earth you expected—an old woman traveling in a savage country full of foreigners! It's almost indecent, isn't it?"

Sylvia smiled faintly, like someone awakened from a stupor.
"Oh, I don't know. Won't you sit down? I certainly didn't expect any English person in this dreadful place. If one can live in England—"

She broke off suddenly. "What made you leave?"

"You see, I have been rather lonely. Since Richard left—"

"Ah, yes, of course," Sylvia sat down with her back to the sunlight, her hands clasped tightly in her lap. "You must miss him very much."

"Oh, terribly. But that's our fate—to have to get on without people we have suffered for. You, for instance. I'm sure sometimes you feel sad—a little homesick—"

"Then I rely upon you. Here is my card. Come to see me as soon as you can. We must act at once. Will you accompany me to my carriage?"

As Gabrielle helped her silently into the waiting victoria Mrs. Farquhar turned for a moment to glance behind her. Her face, which had suddenly grown old and lined with grief, lit up with a flash of malicious enjoyment.

"When we women go to the devil we go all the way," she said. "We outdo Lucifer himself—we make hell a comparatively respectable abode. And men can't pay us out—can't get at us. Only our own sex know how to do that. I know how to do it. I have actually made Sylvia Arnaud faint."

She sank back among the cushions with a sigh of relief. "And that will be my consolation on my deathbed," she finished, almost cheerfully.

CHAPTER XVI.

In the Teeth of the Storm.

"During the first night of that great march southward they had sung lustily. Now they were silent. No man spoke even to his neighbor. From time to time they exchanged glances—lightning, stealthy glances, which passed unnoted. But that was all. It was the only sign that they were still men."

The last village lay behind them. Two hundred miles away there was Sidi-bel-Abbes. In those two hundred miles there had been many things—and eight days! Eight days! They

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts you out of shape. Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be practically fit. Watch the kidneys. The kidneys are the most overworked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly urine accumulates and crystallizes, look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels, causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often to turn into deadly Bright's Disease. One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, high colored or scanty urine, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism. Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication, keep your back after the cause at once. Go to your druggist immediately. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL KIDNEY PILLS. Get capsules, imported directly from the laboratories in Holland, where they have been in use for over two hundred years. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause, they should not, your money will be refunded. Be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

Dinner Stories

At the end of three weeks of married life a southern darkey returned to the minister who had performed the ceremony and asked for a divorce.

After explaining that he could not grant divorces, the minister tried to dissuade his visitor from carrying out his intentions. "You must remember, Sam, that you promised to take Liza for better or worse."

"Yassir, I knows dat, boss," rejoined the darkey, "but she's wuss than I took her for."

Some British soldiers stationed in Flanders became interested in gardening. They wanted a garden, but didn't know the proper way of going about it. A hardened old sergeant recalled that somebody had written a book called "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." To the soldier-farmer this had the sound of an appropriate text-book. So he got it from the American library association camp library near by. When the book came it was a disappointment, but all the men enjoyed reading it.

"Smell anything, grandmother?" asked the youngest who was lying on the floor drawing. Grandmother assured him she did not.

The young artist gave a few finishing touches and repeated his question. Grandmother sniffed the air, and again declared she smelled nothing. "Well," said the boy, "you ought to. I have just drawn a skunk!"

AMERICAN MEN AND WOMEN IN FIGHTING TRIM

They Keep To The Top Notch of Health

The spirit of the times demands perfect health and vigor and keeping them up to the highest degree of efficiency.

Wise men and women have learned that it does not do to allow health or nerves to run down and are quick to take advantage of Nature's great restorer, your own blood. Phosphated Iron, the minute they feel they are slowing up.

Whatever your work may be there is no reason why it should continue to tire you. Work should only use the right amount of your energy. It is trying to work on your nerves and forcing yourself that wastes your strength, runs you down, gives you those restless nights, loss of appetite and indigestion when you get up in the morning as tired as when you went to bed.

There is no sense in anyone being a victim of ill health, poor blood, overwork, nerves or the blues when Phosphated Iron will afford such prompt and permanent relief.

All over the country men and women in every walk of life are getting good health, strength and nerves from the use of Phosphated Iron. The red blood and nerve builder, it will also put you on your feet, make you feel like a live one. It produces results that you can't get from capsules, pills or tablets.

To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron have in capsules, insist on capsules.

HOW THIS LITTLE BOY

Recovered Strength After Sickness.

Garrett, Texas.—"The measles left my little boy aged nine years in a very weak, run down condition—he coughed a good deal, and his medicine did not seem to help him. We finally took him out of school, and I thought he would never be strong again. One day I read about the cod liver and iron tonic known as Vinol, and such a change as it has made in my little boy—it stopped his cough, he is now back in school, strong and well."

Mrs. E. A. Wright like Vinol to restore strength, appetite and vim to pale, sickly children. We strongly recommend Vinol for this purpose.

Smith Drug Co. Vinol is sold in Broadway by W. J. Smith and Druggists everywhere.

P. S.—For children's Eczema, Suxol Salve is guaranteed truly wonderful.

For Grip and colds that develop into Pneumonia

You are safe when you take Father John's Medicine for your cold and to build new flesh and strength, because it is free from morphine, chloroform, codeine, heroin, or other dangerous drugs. Take it Today.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR TRAINING WOUNDED MEN

Washington, Nov. 5.—Plans for training and placing in remunerative positions soldiers and sailors maimed in the war worked out by the United States Employment Service and the Federal Board for Vocational Education are ready to be put into operation.

The Employment Service has instructed its representatives throughout the country to obtain information that will be helpful in the placement of partially disabled soldiers and sailors. Surveys of labor needs will be made in conference with employers to determine where such men can be used efficiently.

The Board for Education will maintain in each hospital for the treatment of wounded, a representative who will confer with disabled men before their discharge from the hospital. If a man desires to continue in the occupation he was engaged in before the war and is fitted for it, help will be given him in finding work in that calling; should his injuries make it necessary for him to seek a new means of livelihood, he will be advised of the lines in which he can enter without finding his injuries a handicap and a course of training in the work to be adopted will be offered. Every effort will be made to assist disabled men toward that occupation in which they are most interested and for which, because of attitude and experience, on one hand and handicaps on the other, they are best suited.

After the vocational adviser has assisted the recuperating patient to choose a suitable occupation, his case, with full information, will be referred to a local board in his community, made up of two representatives of the district employment office, one a physician, two representatives chosen from the locality, one to be an employer and the other a representative of labor. The board will see to his training, and while it is in progress he will be supported by the government and given the same allotment and family allowance for dependants as when he was in military or naval service. His expenses, in the main, will be covered from the compensation provided in the vocational rehabilitation act.
